25% is not "just" - it is quite a lot.

Anonymous user's Opinion   Responded Y Yes

And that is too much. It is driving me insane that our city cannot control the spending. Instead of exercising good management of the revenue they currently receive, we get penalized for their lack of good stewardship. It would be similar to me going to my employer and saying, "I spent too much this month.....you HAVE to give me another $2000.00!" I guarantee that I would be looking for a new job.

Anonymous user's Opinion   Responded N No

Greater proactive, transparent communications on how the city spends its revenue would help us better understand.

Anonymous user's Opinion   Responded N No

I guess that's a good percentage. Honestly, I don't pay much attention to the percentages, only the total amount I need to pay.
